

Out now on Kindle

An ebook based on Eddy Knasel's Thoughts for the Day for BBC Radio Bristol

Eddy has been offering Thoughts for the Day from a Quaker perspective. on BBC Radio Bristol's Breakfast Show since 2005, Now he is publishing a selection of his scripts from October 2008 to May 2014.

Topics covered include:

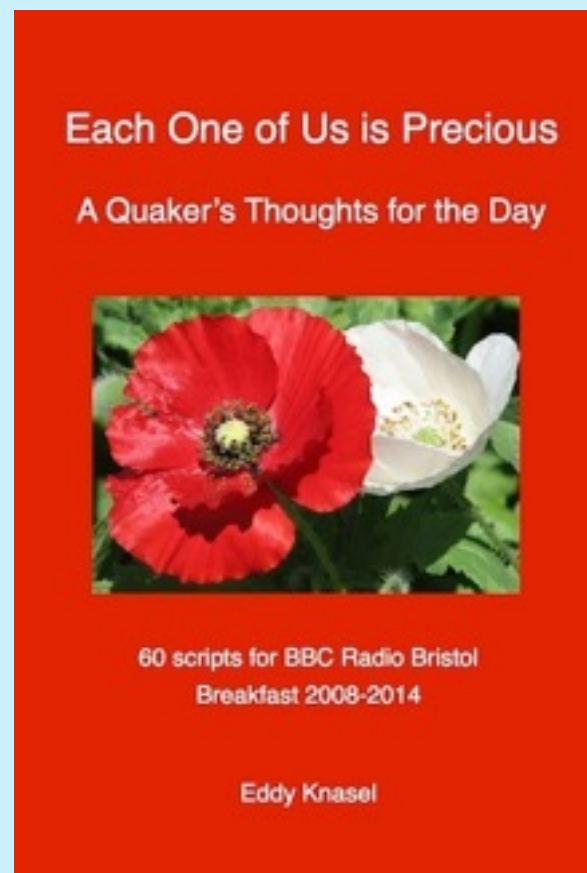

- Occupy Bristol
- Quakers' policy on goods produced by Israeli settlers on the Palestinian West Bank.
- Quakers and politics
- The murder of drummer Lee Rigby
- New Street Flats – faith in action in the eighteenth century.
- Chemical weapons in Syria
- International Conscientious Objectors Day.

There are introductions putting each script in the context when it was written - there are also several postscripts saying what's happened since.

Each One of Us is Precious is now available for download as a Kindle Edition from Amazon and will also be available as an iBook from Apple's iTunes store later in June.

Remember: Kindle books can be read on a variety of platforms via the free Kindle app.

If you would like to know more – drop an email to Eddy at eddy@learnersfirst.co.uk

A great way to support Campaign Against Arms Trade

Each One of Us is Precious will cost in either format £5.00.
All royalties (£3.50) will be donated to Campaign Against Arms Trade.

